"And at home by the fire, whenever you look up there I shall be — and whenever I look up, there will be you -Gabriel Oak"

Thomas Hardy, Far From the Madding Crowd

All the way to heaven is heaven Mellissa Etheridge

in the fleeting moment the imperceptible touch of the you that is me and the me that is you words fall short …
scattered fragments …
seek an understanding leaving the sky to the stars

You and Me – My Word in Your Ear

Richard Scutter … a serious poet with a distinct sense of humour … he has written some fine poetry from the more intense philosophic and personal to the lighter and somewhat frivolous … he is established locally and more widely through the Internet where his poems and poetry commentary are well received.
